ABOUT ME

I'm an expert at full-stack web development, currently working as a full-time Software Engineer at Enosis Solutions. I also develop mobile apps as a hobby. I've additionally worked with Unity Games before from my coding interest.

Programming for me is like playing an exciting game without being bored. I can work for a long term at a stretch. Bug fixing, defining new techniques, designing industry level architecture or strategies are fun to me. I am a technology seeker. So, I have incredible interest and obviously I pay great attention to quality and timing. I am highly motivated, and I can learn quickly.
